The new Working With Children Check

The new, online Working With Children Check covers more people, is more comprehensive and provides better protection for children. The new model is also consistent with other state and territory Checks, giving us the starting point for a National Working With Children Check.

A Working With Children Check involves a national police check and review of findings of misconduct involving children, and the result is either a clearance to work with children for five years, or a bar against working with children. If the outcome is a clearance, the Check can be used for any child-related work (paid or voluntary) in NSW.

A Check is a prerequisite for anyone in child-related work, but it is not the only resource available to organisations to keep children safe. Find out more about creating child-safe environments at www.kids.nsw.gov.au.

Who needs a Working With Children Check?

Only people in child-related work need to apply for a Working With Children Check. There are other checks available for non child-related workers (e.g. national police check). Child-related work means face-to-face contact with children in a child-related sector, or work in a stipulated, child-related role.

Some additional roles will require a Check, including prospective adoptive parents, adults who share the home of an authorised carer and adults who share the home of a family day care service provider or home-based education and care service provider. For more details, refer to the Child Protection (Working With Children) Act 2012 and the Child Protection (Working With Children) Regulation 2012. The information is also available as a fact sheet from www.newcheck.kids.nsw.gov.au. See FACT SHEET: What is child-related work?

When to apply

If you are starting a new job in child-related work, you must apply for a Check before you start. If you are already in paid child-related work or you are a volunteer, you will be phased in over a five year period, according to your industry sector. The phase in schedule is available as a fact sheet from www.newcheck.kids.nsw.gov.au. See FACT SHEET: Phase in schedule.

If you are self employed, you can continue to use your Certificate for Self Employed People until it expires. If you don’t have a Certificate or it has already expired, you must apply for the new Check before you take on any new child-related jobs.
How to apply

All processes for the new Check are online and will be available from 15 June 2013.

STEP 1

- Fill in an online application form at www.newcheck.kids.nsw.gov.au. If you cannot access the online system, call a Customer Support Officer for assistance on (02) 9286 7219.

- When you have completed the application, you will get an application number. This application number cannot be used for the online verification process until you completed STEP 2.

STEP 2

- Take your application number and proof of your identity to a NSW motor registry or NSW Council Agency that offers RMS services.

- If you are in paid work, you will also need to pay an $80 application fee. The Check remains free for volunteers, students, potential adoptive parents and adults who reside in the home of; an authorised carer, family day care service provider or home-based education and care service.

Once your application has been processed, you will receive the outcome by email (or post if you do not have an email address). Most applications will be processed within 48 hours.

Results of a Check

There are only two outcomes of a Check – a clearance or a bar. If the outcome is a clearance, your Check will be valid for five years for any child-related work in NSW. If it is a volunteer-class Check, it may only be used for unpaid work.

All cleared applicants will be subject to ongoing monitoring and relevant new records may lead to a bar and the clearance being revoked.

If a bar is being considered, you will be contacted in writing and asked to submit information which must be considered in the final decision.

If a bar is applied, you will be notified in writing. While a bar is in place it is an offence to engage in any child-related work, paid or unpaid. In most cases, you can apply for a review of a bar to the Administrative Decisions Tribunal. For more information on the review process, refer to the fact sheet on bars and appeals, available at www.newcheck.kids.nsw.gov.au. See: FACT SHEET: Bars and appeals

Timeline for change

Employer-submitted applications for the current Check will be accepted until 1pm, 7 June 2013. For more information on the transition arrangements refer to FACT SHEET: Transition arrangements available from www.newcheck.kids.nsw.gov.au.

Disclaimer: The material provided in this Fact Sheet is an information source for the guidance of users only. Every effort has been made to ensure that the information is accurate, current and not misleading. However, this cannot always be guaranteed and no warranty is given that the information is free from error or omission. Users should exercise their own skill and care with respect to the use of the material. The information is also not a substitute for independent legal or other professional advice and users should obtain appropriate professional advice relevant to their particular circumstances. The Office of the Guardian does not guarantee, and accepts no legal liability whatsoever for any act done, omission made, loss, damage, cost or inconvenience arising from, connected to, or as a consequence of, using or relying on the material contained in this Fact Sheet.